Edric C Druce	12.2/40 p.74	Article	Attaining a Large Gold Medal	This instalment commences with the display attaining a Large Gold at the FIP Exhibition at Bangkok. After the euphoria of this achievement consideration moves to how to further improve the exhibit. Three new acquisitions, all covers with Sydney View stamps, are illustrated and described and where added to the exhibit shown at Philakorea 94. the new aim is termed the `Four Covers Championship Quest` and the opportunity to acquire some of these came with the Manwood auction in the USA. All are illustrated and include a mixed Victoria/NSW stamp combination plus a separate acquisition of a Sydney embossed letter sheet with a rare (unique?) `Free` Marking from a country post office.
Edric C Druce	12.1/39 p.15	Article	Attaining a Large Gold Medal	Describes the re-assessment of the exhibit after its 94 marks at Nippon 96 and the search for eight extra `sexy` covers, ie. one for each frame. the factors that contribute to sexiness are described and include stamps of differing colours, neatness of handwriting etc. the remainder of the article discusses and illustrates the eight covers that were acquired and added to the exhibit.
Edric C Druce	12.4/42 p.205	Article	Attaining a Large Gold Medal	The final instalment discusses the problems of selecting a venue for FIP exhibits. There is the need for a balance between the popularity of the show (and therefore the chance of acceptance) and the likely expertise of the judges for the subject entered. This is especially the case for those searching for a Grand Award.

Bernard P Beston	12.1/39 p.22	Article	How to Judge: Queensland Postal History	Many of the points discussed are relevant to the judging of postal history exhibits of other Australian colonies. Early material, both pre-stamp and used with NSW stamps (1850-60) are rare and often in poor condition. the text and illustrations consider the problem of whether or not an item in poor condition should be exhibited. Evidence of knowledge of the postal rates and their frequent changes is necessary ideally illustrated by examples that show double/triple rates, book post etc., together with examples of instructional markings. the need for postmarks from small rural office and unusual destinations is stressed.

Geoffrey Kellow	12.1/39 p.41	Article	How to Judge - Traditional Victoria	With limited exceptions, Victoria produced and printed all of its postage and fiscal stamps from 1850-1912. This resulted in considerable variety and complexity due to frequent changes of design, paper, perforations and the like. Some have been subject to detailed study and others not. It is opined that it is difficult to provide an exhibit that covers the whole period and the stamps are discussed under six headings which are essentially time periods.
